Serving teen survivors in need of residential care and therapeutic services

What is IMPACT?

Ascent 121 joined forces with Lutheran Child & Family Services (LCFS) in 2014 to launch the Impact Program. Together we provide comprehensive residential services for teens with a history or risk of commercial sexual exploitation and human trafficking. Clinical services are trauma-informed and strengths-based, using best practice service standards. Impact is available to youth between the ages of 12 and 18.

What Do We Provide?

▶ THERAPEUTIC RESIDENTIAL PLACEMENT

Youth in the Impact Program receive intensive individual, family and group therapies that are specifically designed to meet the unique treatment needs of the population that we serve. Successful intervention with these youth requires both rapid and long-term interventions to help the youth resist eloping or returning to their previous behavior. Continuity is vital and the residential component of programming is part of a larger continuum of care. Impact staff are provided with specialized training and supervision from experts from around the country. Education, recreation and life-skills development are all offered on campus.

▶ COORDINATED CARE & CASE MANAGEMENT

Teens and their families receive case management services to assist with education, access to resources and referrals for any additional services needed.

▶ INTENSIVE FAMILY THERAPY

Immediately upon placement, a family therapist is assigned. This service focuses on family engagement and stabilization of the home with the intent of preparing the family for reunification with their child. Therapy occurs both in the home and at the Lutherwood facility with a minimum of three sessions each week. This therapist acts as the lead for the multidisciplinary treatment team, guiding the course of treatment and ensuring consistency of care.

▶ COMPREHENSIVE PSYCHOLOGICAL EVALUATIONS

Youth who have not already received a specialized comprehensive trauma assessment will initially be admitted to the program for a 45-day diagnostic period. Throughout this period they will also participate in all components of the Impact Program. Evaluation consists of child and family interviews, record review, interviews with collateral contacts, observation and assessment tools that measure trauma, substance abuse, elopement risk, exploitation screening, as well as executive and intellectual functioning. An evaluation report, including on-going treatment recommendations, are provided to the referring case worker/probation officer. Ascent 121 personnel conduct all evaluations.
